About This Guide

All of the information and resources collected here were made possible by the hard work and dedication of knowledgeable humanities experts, Humanities New York grantees, Centennial Partners, and the creativity of New York arts, cultural, and community organizations. In particular, the creation of this guide was inspired by the League of Women Voters of New York’s Suffrage and Women’s History Resources List. A big thanks to LWVNY’s Laura Ladd Bierman and Dare Thompson for your leadership and hard work! Our interview with Laura and Dare on our website here.

We acknowledge Sara Ogger, Executive Director, Lauren Kushnick, Director of Grants & Partnerships, Scarlett Rebman, Grants Associate, Antonio Pontón-Núñez, Development Officer, and Nicholas MacDonald, Communications Associate for their work on this guide.

NOTE: We recommend saving this pdf rather than printing out the full resource guide to retain the links and save trees!

2017 Humanities New York

Background

2017 marks the centennial of women securing the right to vote in New York State, three years before the passage of the 19th Amendment. This was a milestone for the state and a transformative moment in American democracy. Humanities New York is honored to work with the New York State Women's Suffrage Commemoration Commission and our Centennial Partners to ensure all New Yorkers have the opportunity to join this celebration.

Humanities New York

Humanities New York is bringing the people, places and ideas of the women's suffrage movement to life. As of May 2017, Humanities New York has invested over $344K in Centennial-themed activities that explore the diversity of individuals and ideas that contributed to this grassroots movement. In particular, Humanities New York has supported projects that connect contemporary concerns (civil rights, gender diversity, equality, and civic engagement) to the history of women's suffrage.

See also Appendix A. Humanities New York Centennial Flyer.

New York State's Official Commission

In November, 2015, Governor Cuomo signed the bill to establish the New York State Women's Suffrage 100th Commemoration Commission (Women's Suffrage Commission), for establishment of which Humanities New York was the lead advocate. The goal of the Women's Suffrage Commission is to plan and coordinate a series of statewide programs that celebrate the accomplishment of women's suffrage and the central role of New Yorkers and New York State in the passage of the 19th Amendment. The 14-member commission took effect on April 1, 2016, and is authorized through 2020. Humanities New York is represented on the commission by Kathleen Neville, who has served on the Board of Directors since 2012, the same year she became Chair of the U.S. Commissioners to the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission in Buffalo, NY. The Women's Suffrage Commission's official website documents the work of this body and invites event submissions from organizations. See also Appendix B. Women's Suffrage Commissioners.

Centennial Partners

Humanities New York supports and collaborates with a variety of public and private partners statewide that are inspired by this history and are committed to a Centennial commemoration that serves all New Yorkers. Many of the resources included in this guide were developed and publicized by our Centennial Partners, who draw from the arts, cultural, and community-service sectors for engaging ways to educate adults, kids, families, teachers, and seniors. See Appendix C. 2017 Centennial Partners for a full list of our partners and how they serve New Yorkers.

Support Your Centennial Project: Grants & Outreach

The following funding and marketing opportunities are available for organizations located in New York State. For complete eligibility guidelines, visit each of the funder websites below. See also Calls for Participation.

William G. Pomeroy Foundation

Bring Local History to life with the Pomeroy Foundation. Applications for the Historic Roadside Marker Grant Program are accepted year round, with deadlines based on the location of the applying organization. Awarded markers are permanently installed by the Pomeroy Foundation each year in communities across New York State.

- To find out more about this grant program and see if a suggested marker would qualify, or to find your region's deadline, visit www.wgpfoundation.org.

WNY Women's Foundation 2017-18 Impact Grant Investments

The WNY Women's Foundation "strives to impact the lives of adolescent girls in Erie and Niagara counties by partnering with service organizations. Partnerships include a grant investment of up to $5,000.00 in new or existing innovative programs designed to empower adolescent girls. A goal of the partnerships is to help young women have practical experiences that will expose them to opportunities and prepare them for their future careers."

- Applications are due by 4pm on Friday May 19, 2017. Read the full Request for Partners HERE.

Marketing & Outreach Tips

Humanities New York will be coordinating marketing efforts this summer and fall to raise awareness to existing cultural resources and public projects our partners are launching statewide. Through press releases, emails to the field, and coordinated social media activities (more on that soon), all New Yorkers will have the opportunity to get involved with the Centennial. To be kept in the loop about marketing opportunities, subscribe to our newsletter, or contact Nicholas MacDonald, Communications Associate.

Outreach Tips:

- Watch Dave Ruch, one of Humanities New York's Public Scholars, "Promotion Tips for Your Upcoming Event" on our YouTube channel.
- Develop a coordinated marketing strategy with groups in your region with a Humanities New York Vision Grant.
- See also the League of Women Voters of New York's Suffrage and Women's History Resources List for step-by-step program planning and marketing tips.

Centennial Calendars of Events

Events inspired by the figures and history of women's suffrage are happening all across New York in 2017. Here is a selection of online calendars to explore and post information about your programming.

- Humanities New York's Calendar is a list of cultural and humanities events across New York State, including events funded by Humanities New York and that of our Centennial Partners. Event submissions are welcome for affordable public projects inspired by the legacy of suffragists in NY, particularly events that draw on the contemporary relevance of this history. To submit your event use this form and select the theme "Suffrage Centennial."
- New York State Women's Suffrage Commission official website. Sponsored by Commission Chair Lieutenant Governor Kathy Hochul, this website features figures from the movement, excerpts from upcoming activities, and a calendar of events that is open to submissions. To submit events, use this form.
- New York State, Office of State History website includes a calendar of history-related events taking place across the state. This calendar seeks to present simple content (date, time, location, brief description) created by historians for their event. Types of events can include: historical celebrations, lectures, exhibit openings, fairs, festivals, meetings, reenactments, etc. To submit events, articles or updates, visit the website or email statehistory@nysed.org

- The New York History Blog, features news, upcoming events, and highlighting days of significance for Women's history and other themes. To submit events, articles or updates, contact the editor John Warren through the website.
 - Women's History of New York State: A listing of cultural events, sporting, craft fairs, historical, tours, festivals, workshops and more!" related to women's history. To submit events, use this form.
 - WNY Women's Foundation removes "barriers and provide opportunities for women and girls to become self-sufficient." Visit their website for more information about their strategic grantmaking, advocacy efforts, and to browse their regional events calendar featuring professional development events and public programs. Event submissions are welcome.
 - I NY is the official tourism website and app for visiting New York State. Historic sites and upcoming events are accepted year-round. Explore the Women's History Path Through History page, the statewide events calendar, or post your own events.

Know Your Centennial: Biographies, Facts, Books & More!

The resources listed in this section are designed to help groups large and small find accurate content for public programs examining the legacy of the women's suffrage movement today. Need help incorporating this content into a public project? See also Humanities New York's grants described in the Funding Opportunities section.

Books and Films

The following resources are available to groups looking to dig deeper into the history of the movement through literature and film. For additional resources and information see also Appendix C. 2017 Centennial Partners.

- The "Votes for Women!" book list from Humanities New York was curated by Laura Free, Associate Professor of History at Hobart and William Smith Colleges for this offering. Book selections include history, biography, and fiction and provide both a window into this chapter of American social progress and the lasting legacy of this movement today. To browse the reading list, and learn how your organization can apply to host this Reading & Discussion program, visit our website.
- The Suffrage and Women's History Resources List, developed by the League of Women Voters of New York, was written primarily to help New York Leagues design programs. Naturally, it's extensive lists of books and films are helpful for any group interested in exploring this theme.
- The Women's Suffrage Bibliography, is a book list compiled by humanities scholars including Natalie Naylor, former Speaker in the Humanities, and Antonia Petrash of the Long Island Women's Suffrage Association.

Conversation Starters

The following resources are available to groups looking to bring neighbors together, foster dialogue and discussion, and build community over time.

- Organize a conversation on civics. With the program "Community Conversations," Humanities New York provides tools, training, and funds to convene neighbors and discuss civics and Centennial-related issues. Guides are available for adults, youth and kids. Learn more here.
- Host a themed book group. Use Humanities New York's "Votes for Women!" Reading & Discussion theme to engage your community in the history and relevance of the suffrage movement. Read more on our website here about how this program sparks discussions.

- Gather and discuss your community’s stories. The New York Preservation Archive’s guide to Oral History and Preservation provides clear steps and instructions for groups that are gathering oral histories, a great reference whether you’re documenting women’s history or other themes.

Educator Resources

The following resources are designed for P-12 and higher education teachers. For additional inspiration see also “Community Conversations” under Conversation Starters, and Appendix E. Humanities New York Centennial Grantees to explore recently awarded projects designed to engage youth and students.

Resources for Teachers & Students from New York State Archives

The New York State Archives offers educational resources for P-12 grade teachers and students. National research demonstrates the importance of “primary source” teaching methods.

- Download a full-PDF version of the Archives’ award-winning publication for teachers, Consider the Source: Historical Records in the Classroom. This book is a how-to manual that guides teachers through the process of finding historical documents in their communities and online, and understanding the many ways of integrating primary sources into classroom instruction. Go to page 90 for a suffrage-related lesson, “Petition from Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony to the House of Representatives.”
- Centennial-themed lesson plans are available on the Archives’ website. Download primary sources as well as customizable lesson plan templates. The lessons are suitable for elementary, middle, and high school students.
- For more ideas on how to utilize primary sources to explore Centennial themes, explore the Archives’ series of videos on “Using Documents in the Classroom.”

National Women’s History Museum

The National Women’s History Museum has lesson plans related to the suffrage movement and other women’s history themes on its website. The resources section of the website also includes biographies, downloadable posters, and quizzes that might be of use to classroom teachers.

“Women’s Rights: The Struggle Continues” Curriculum

This curriculum, developed by three New York state teachers and two SUNY New Paltz faculty members with the support of the SUNY Teacher and Leadership Network (S-TEN), include units for upper-elementary through college students. The materials include essential questions, secondary source recommendations, primary sources, worksheets and graphic organizers. Each unit aims “to teach about the leading figures, goals, tactics, struggles, and results of the women’s suffrage movement.””

Host a Dynamic Speaker or Presentation

The following presentations have been developed by our Public Scholars and Grantees. For additional inspiration see also Appendix E. Humanities New York Centennial Grantees to explore recently awarded projects that use dynamic speakers and performances to engage audiences.

Public Scholars from Humanities New York

Bring a Humanities New York's Public Scholars to your community to explore leading suffragists from New York, the anti-suffrage movements, as well as contemporary issues like feminism, race, gender and social justice. Organizations are eligible to host two scholars per year. Each event requires the organization to submit a $100 administration fee.

- Interested in hosting? Browse the online catalog or call Kate Reese at (212)233-1131 for more information.

Old Songs "Forward Into Light" Concerts

Old Songs presents a two-hour concert of songs from 1848–1920. "Forward Into Light" brings important documents of protest and rhetorical thought alive with a cast of nine singers and musicians; entertainment with historical narrative! Development of this program was made possible by a 2016 Vision Grant from Humanities New York.

- Interested in hosting? Call (518) 765-2815 or email oldsongs@oldsongs.org for information, then review Humanities New York's Funding Opportunities. Your program may be eligible for an Action Grant.

Host a Traveling Exhibition

The following traveling exhibitions have been developed by our Grantees and Centennial Partners to explore different facets of the women's suffrage movement. Interested in hosting? Contact the organization offering the exhibition you might like to host, then review Humanities New York's Funding Opportunities. Local host organizations may be eligible for an Action Grant.

Votes for Women: Celebrating New York's Suffrage Centennial is a six-panel traveling exhibition created by the New York State Museum to complement the museum's extensive Votes for Women exhibition in Albany.

- The panel exhibition is ready to travel statewide. See Appendix F for more information.
- Venues that are interested in borrowing this exhibition should contact Jennifer Lemak at the New York State Museum: Jennifer.lemak@nysed.gov, 518-474-5842.

Pioneers, Philanthropists and Political Activists: Rural Voices on the Path to Women's Rights is a traveling exhibit that explores the history of women's suffrage in Tompkins County. This exhibit was funded in part by an Action Grant from Humanities New York.

- The exhibit includes nine 2' by 3' posters, including an introduction; pro- and anti-suffrage overview statements; posters for each of the rural towns in Tompkins County: Groton, Dryden, Lansing, Newfield and Trumansburg; and a final statement with questions to prompt visitor interaction.
- To book this exhibit for a stop at your organization, contact Diane Pamel, Library Director at Southworth Library Association, by phone at 607-844-4782 or by email at southworthlibrary@gmail.com.

Research Support

The following resources are available both online and in-person. For hours and access information, visit each of the websites below. Interested in research support? See also Humanities New York's Funding Opportunities for details about Vision Grants.

Empire State Library Network advances New York libraries and archives through innovative programs and meaningful collaborations. Empire State Library Network (ESLN) is comprised of the nine Reference and Research Library Resources Councils – each a multi-type library system in New York State. Visit their website for more information about their statewide platform for shared services and collaborations, including event information and resources for libraries and archives of all types and sizes.

Gotham Center for New York City is a public educational organization devoted to the history of New York City at The Graduate Center, City University of New York. Mike Wallace founded the Center in 2000, inspired by the popularity of his Pulitzer-winning book, "Gotham: A History of New York City to 1898," co-authored with Edwin Burrows. In addition to hosting professional meetups, the Gotham Center maintains a robust list of resources of NYC archives and libraries, museum historic sites and tours, historical societies and preservation groups, blogs and websites, and an online bibliography of 20,000+ publications on New York City's history.

National Women's Hall of Fame

The National Women's Hall of Fame website includes brief biographies as well as oral history interviews of inductees, many of whom participated in the suffrage struggle. This content can be used for student research projects, or public project development.

- See Appendix H for biographies of women involved with the movement for suffrage and women's rights in New York State.

New York State Archives provides access to over 100,000 cubic feet of archival records of New York State government (executive, legislative, and judicial branches), and to over 10,000 rolls of microfilmed archival records of local governments. Assistance is available for researchers in locating archival records relating to New York in other government agencies and in historical records repositories. Most records in the New York State Archives are available to the public without restrictions. However, access to some of our records is restricted. For hours, location, and information about accessing the Archives, visit their website.

- The Research Room is shared with the Manuscripts and Special Collections unit of the New York State Library.

New York State Library, Manuscripts and Special Collections unit was established within the State Library in 1881. Its responsibilities include the acquisition, access and preservation of the Library's collections of archives and manuscripts, rare books, maps and atlases, prints and photographs, broadsides and posters, musical scores and ephemera. For hours, location, and information about accessing the Manuscripts and Special Collections, visit their website.

- The Research Room for Manuscripts and Special Collections unit of the New York State Library is shared with the New York State Archives.

New York State Museum collections address questions about New York's natural and human heritage. The Museum's collections are made available to researchers and scholars and are also used in exhibitions and public programs. Participation in Museum collections curation and research projects is possible through internships and volunteer opportunities. To explore the Museum's Research and Collections Division, visit their website.

Get Involved

The resources listed in this section are designed to connect and assist professionals including administrators, educators, historians, town clerks, and other professionals inspired by the themes and history of the women's suffrage movement.

Professional Development Opportunities

The following are a list of recent and upcoming conferences and workshops designed for New Yorkers.

Women In Politics: Past, Present and Future

April 21-22, 2017 @ FDR Library and SUNY New Paltz

Organized by The Benjamin Center at SUNY New Paltz, the women's suffrage centennial conference explored the lesser-known history and unfinished agenda of the women's movement in NY in order to engender a critical understanding of the past, present, and future of women's human and civil rights in NYS. The program was professionally recorded and will be made available on their website.

Also of interest, Allison Dunne interviewed Dr. Eve Waltermaurer, Director of Research and Evaluation of SUNY New Paltz's The Benjamin Center for Public Policy Initiatives, about contemporary attitudes about women's roles. Dr. Waltermaurer recently conducted a survey of New Yorkers about the social perceptions of women's roles in the home, at work, in the media and other areas for Times Union Women@Work.

- Click here for the event's full program.

Strategic Organizational Sustainability

June 7, 2017 @ Colgate University, Hamilton

Organized by New York Cultural Heritage Tourism Network this conference is designed "for organizations, businesses and private sector interests to become active participants in their communities through regional economic development." This conference will outline tips on preservation, building organizational sustainability, regional economic development strategies, and working collaboratively with public and private entities.

- Click here for the full schedule and to register.

2020: Commitment to the Vision: Women's Suffrage Conference

November 4, 2017 @ Cultural Education Center, Albany

Organized by the Women's Rights and Heritage Committee of the New York Cultural Heritage Tourism Network, co-sponsored by Generations Bank, NYS Archives Partnership Trust, Women@Work, and Humanities New York. This statewide conference provides an opportunity to learn about the richly diverse history of the era of women's suffrage in New York State.

- See Appendix G for their flyer and click here for more information and to register.

Grant Writing: Budget Basics Webinar

June 22 @ 1:00 pm

Co-presented by Humanities New York, the Adirondack Foundation, and the Adirondack Lakes Center for the arts, this webinar is designed for new grant writers as well as those who might want a budget booster shot. Participants will learn how to create an accurate budget and avoid common pitfalls. Each funder will provide an overview of their budget requirements.

- Click here for more information and to register.

Southern Tier Workshop

July 14th, 9:30 am to 12:00 pm @ Southeast Steuben County Public Library

Co-presented by Humanities New York, the ARTS Council of the Southern Finger Lakes, and the Community Foundation of Elmira-Corning and the Finger Lakes, this free grants workshop will feature an information session, activity, and ample time for networking and Q&A. Presenters from each organization will give a brief overview of the funding opportunities that they administer and their application processes. The second half of the workshop will be an interactive grant-writing seminar. Representatives from any community or cultural organization are welcome to attend.

- Click here for more information and to register.

Ongoing Professional Development

Women TIES helps “women entrepreneurs increase their revenue by providing PR tools to brand their name on highly visited website, through social media marketing and at numerous regional events across New York State.” Visit their website to browse a robust online directory of women entrepreneurs, women-owned businesses, and professional development resources.

Advocate for Arts & Culture

Advocacy efforts have resulted in valuable support for historical commemorations, funding for cultural organizations, and legislative action protecting the arts, cultural and community resources of New York. Humanities New York regularly advocates for a robust future for the cultural sector of New York State by speaking with one voice to federal, state, and local legislators.

New York State has the opportunity celebrate its Centennial of Women's Suffrage from 2017 to the national commemoration of the Nineteenth Amendment in 2020. Humanities New York partners with institutions and thought-leaders around the state to plan the Centennial work and disseminate resources for core programs. The Centennial is intended to ensure that every community in New York State from Jamestown to Montauk is able to participate in this great celebration with meaningful events, exhibitions, programs, conversations and educational opportunities that explore women's past and future.

Appendix E. Humanities New York Centennial Grantees

The New York State Women's Suffrage Centennial resonates with historical, arts, cultural and community organizations statewide who are exploring this diverse legacy. Below are Humanities New York's Centennial grantees organized by region.

For a full list of our grantees, visit our website.

To learn more about any of these projects, email Lauren Kushnick, Director of Grants & Partnerships at Humanities New York.

Capital Region

- Americans@Risk: Race, Denial, Privilege and Who Matters (2017 Action Grant), Underground Railroad History Project of the Capital Region, Inc.: In our increasingly polarized society, the symbol of the 19th c. Underground Railroad movement and its abolition activists challenge us to publicly reflect and act upon the legacy of the institution of slavery in contemporary times.✉
- Graveside Chats Volume II (2017 Action Grant), Historic St. Agnes Cemetery: In these chats, community theater actors portray people living between 1840 and 1940 and bring to life stories relating to historical themes and cultural norms of a bygone era.
- Perfect Work: Sisterhood in the North Family (2017 Vision Grant), Shaker Museum | Mount Lebanon: This guided tour will be an immersive exploration of the lives and status of women in a Shaker family.
- Votes for Women (2017 Action Grant), Siena College Creative Arts Program: Votes for Women is an immersive promenade performance devised and performed by Siena College students and faculty, celebrating the centenary of women achieving the right to vote in New York State.
- Two Activist Movements as One: Abolition and Suffrage in Local History (2017 Action Grant), Hudson Area Association Library: Hudson Community Schools' Writing Center high school students will research the local history of abolition and suffrage with the Hudson Area Library's History Room and the Underground Railroad History Project and will present publicly at the library.
- Whose Side Are You On? Suffrage and Anti-Suffrage in Albany (2017 Action Grant), Historic Cherry Hill: The 18th Annual Albany History Fair will explore the women's suffrage debate in Albany, featuring Cherry Hill's Emily Rankin, an ardent anti-suffragist. The fair will include presentations, a panel of women in politics today, and voter registration.

Central New York

- Seen and Heard: An Active Commemoration of Women's Suffrage in New York (2017 Vision and Action Grants), Everson Museum: This exhibit will illustrate how New York's role in the fight for women's rights serves as catalyst for civic engagement. The exhibition, public programs, artist residencies, and student projects will explore the language and tactics of protest through the arts.

Finger Lakes

back to top

- Because of Women Like Her - Winning the Vote in New York State (2017 Action Grant), Friends & Foundation of the Rochester Public Library: A community-wide exhibition that tells the story of the diverse people and disparate ideas of New York State's woman suffrage movement, focusing on the contributions of the Rochester region.
- The Influence of Haudenosaunee Women on Women's Suffrage in New York State (2017 Action Grant), Friends of Ganondagan: A film on the influence of Haudenosaunee women on the women's suffrage movement in NYS, the under-recognized history of that relationship, women's roles and responsibilities, and the importance of balance and cooperation in the Haudenosaunee culture.
- Seneca Falls/The Foundation Toward National Equality (2017 Action Grant), National Women's Hall of Fame: This project will highlight the role of Seneca Falls in the women's rights movement and the leadership of The National Women's Hall of Fame and the Women's Rights National Historic Park in raising public awareness of great American women and their accomplishments.
- Splendid Grandeur: Amy Beach's Grand Mass in E-flat (2017 Action Grant), Rochester Oratorio Society, Inc.: ROS, together with professional orchestra, vocal soloists and Concentus Women's Chorus, will present the Grand Mass in E-Flat, by American composer AMY BEACH (1867-1944), as part of the City of Rochester's Women's Suffrage Centennial Celebration.
- Votes for Women! (2017 Action Grant), The Kingfisher Theater, Inc.: Witness a moment in the journey toward Woman's Suffrage with this production of Elizabeth Robin's rarely-performed 1907 play, Votes for Women!, now set in the near future. Socialite Beatrice sees what can happen to women who lack the right to vote.
- Women's History Month Film Series: Honoring Trailblazing Women (2017 Action Grant), Little Theatre Film Society: This film series honors trailblazing women, celebrating their accomplishments and exposing the gender injustices that still permeate our world. Screenings happen every Sunday in March.
- Women's Suffrage Centennial Picnic & Historic Tour at the Perkins Mansion (2017 Action Grant), Greater Rochester Area Branch \(GRAB\) American Association of University Women \(AAUW\) Charitable Trust: This Women's Suffrage Picnic will be located on the grounds of the Perkins Mansion and will include food, fun, house tours, music, and costumed historical figures who will reenact speeches, dialogue with guests, and tell stories of past suffrage events.
- Women's Suffrage in Wayne County, N.Y. 1848-1920: A Rural and Small Village Perspective (2017 Vision Grant), Wayne County Historical Society: The project will provide Wayne County historians an opportunity to explore the historical elements of the suffrage movement of this area and the development of a plan to study Women's Suffrage as it relates to this region.

Mid-Hudson

- Hudson Valley Shakespeare Festival Community Playwriting Series: "Forward Foward Sisters" (2017 Action Grant), Hudson Valley Shakespeare Festival: HVSF and a cohort of libraries and academics will produce a Community Playwriting Series to channel our diverse community's desire to learn about writing. The community writers will use the Centennial of Women's Suffrage as their inspiration.

Mohawk Valley

- Constructing Gender (2017 Action Grant), Oneida Community Mansion House: Gender identity and sexuality are controversial public discussions in America today. The 19th century Oneida Community believed that sexual practices were foundational to communities and their concept of gender challenged mainstream American society.
- Memory Dialogues: Using Oral Histories to Initiate Conversations with Residents of Adult Homes (2017 Vision Grant), SUNY Cooperstown Graduate Program: This pilot project will utilize oral history interviews to initiate conversations with residents and caregivers in area adult homes about topics with broad social significance. It will result in a replicable model for use in other organizations.
- OPL's 2017 Centenary Celebration of Women's Suffrage in N.Y.S. (2017 Action Grant), Oneida Public Library: This celebration includes lectures, a filmed documentary about women professionals, a children's program, an adult reading/discussion series, a readers theater play and a community read.

New York City

CELEBRATING
CENTENNIAL

The New York State Education Department and the Office of Cultural Education will present a large-scale exhibition and companion catalog titled, Votes for Women: Celebrating New York's Suffrage Centennial, at the New York State Museum between November 4, 2017 and May 13, 2018.

Votes for Women will celebrate the centennial of women's suffrage in New York State and raise public awareness of the struggle for equal rights, from the 1848 Seneca Falls Convention through 1917, when New York State granted women the right to vote. The exhibition will also address the nationally significant role of New York State leaders in women's rights and the feminist movement through the early 21st century.

The New York State Museum is also creating a six-panel traveling exhibition based on the larger Votes for Women exhibition that can travel to smaller venues around New York State.
