Grant Guidelines

FROM RADICAL TO MAINSTREAM: LADIES TAKE TO BICYCLES

At first, the bicycle was a radical novelty with a hazardous reputation. But the introduction of the "safety bicycle," which was patented in 1887 with a chain drive and equal-sized wheels, caused Americans to suddenly go wild for bicycles.

"RESPECT FOR WOMEN CAN LEAD TO SAFETY FOR CYCLING"

Few women joined the new fad until, ten years later, drop frame bicycles that made room for their skirts hit the market. During the 1890s, bicycling rapidly became a national craze, and in New York, wheelwomen proudly pedaled alongside men—and sometimes ahead of them.

TAKING ON THE TWO-WHEELER

Early bicycles were ill-equipped to accommodate women's needs, and riding attire varied accordingly. In the 1880s, people made often portrayed female riders as ridiculous or incompetent. Gradually, more women took on the two-wheeler, increasing public acceptance. By 1890, the Buffalo Courier declared that "young and middle-aged women can learn to ride the bicycle with the greatest facility, and they can soon become exceedingly skillful."

CLOTHING CONTROVERSY

Clothing initially posed a hindrance to Victorian-era women cyclists. Long skirts became tangled in the wheels and could throw a rider off her bicycle. Nevertheless, pressure to appear "respectable" and ladylike left women in conflict over the best garb for the activity. Many women shortened their skirts above their ankles and reduced the number of petticoats they wore, while others took the more dramatic step of wearing controversial, pants-like bloomers. Gradually, bicycle costumes gained some degree of acceptance, though they were not acceptable for wear when a lady was away from her bicycle.

CYCLING CLUBS

Clubs formed an important part of bicycle culture, springing up in towns and cities across the United States. These clubs brought bicycle enthusiasts together at team group rides, and even parties. Women joined bicycle clubs like the Women's Wheel Club in Buffalo, the Ladies Bicycle Club of Utica, the Lady Wheelers of New York City, or the Elite Cycling Club of Brooklyn. Clubhouses might feature changing areas and special locker rooms for women.

THE BICYCLE: CHALLENGING AND CHANGING FEMININITY

Bicycling challenged the social order of the 1890s by threatening to radically change the femininity of women and possibly leave them with social female roles called for. As more women were "labeled" as "bicyclists," they faced challenges from traditional social norms of femininity and abilities.

General Overview

What are the humanities?

The humanities—literature, history, philosophy and the many forms of human expression—connect us to our individual experience and to our communities, providing personal enrichment and understanding. They can promote relevant, important, and timely conversations about the challenges we face as communities and in society. The humanities can engage people where they live and work, emphasizing conversation, facilitation, and collaborative learning.

What We Fund

Humanities New York (HNY) supports projects that activate, frame, or deepen our understanding of what it means to be human. We encourage and support innovative approaches in the design and delivery of public-facing programming. Through our grants program, we strive to ensure that all New Yorkers may access the tools and experiences of the humanities.

Competitive projects are engaging to a variety of New Yorkers and do not require specialized knowledge to participate in or enjoy. We welcome projects that serve targeted communities—such as families, youth, seniors, veterans, prison populations, and individuals with special needs.

Because we encourage organizations to develop projects that respond to community needs and interests, we are open to a variety of project formats.

Priorities

HNY prioritizes support to projects that reach audiences with fewer opportunities to attend educational and cultural programming. Because we are a statewide organization, within each grant round we strive to make awards in as many regions of the state as possible. All subjects and themes relevant to the communities served are welcome. Special priority is given to proposals that address environmental-humanities topics; impacts of incarceration and the “prison ecosystem”; and the Semiquincentennial of the founding of the United States. Other priorities include supporting small organizations (with operating budgets of less than $250,000) and rural organizations.

Opportunities

HNY has three recurring grant opportunities: Vision, Quick, and Action Grants. Each supports the development and implementation of public-facing humanities projects but has different requirements and deadlines.

Eligibility

- Any tax-exempt organization (non-profit, municipality, native nation or tribal government) that is based in and serves New York State may apply. HNY does not fund individuals.
- Each organization must have a UEI (Unique Entity Identifier) in order to receive a grant.
- Each organization is eligible to receive one Vision Grant and one Action Grant OR one Vision Grant and one Quick Grant per calendar year. An organization may hold a Vision Grant simultaneously with an active Quick Grant or Action Grant so long as the Vision grant is for a separate project.
- Applicants with an open Action Grant project or open Quick Grant project must complete the project and close the grant before applying for a new Action Grant or new Quick Grant.

Application Process

Grants are awarded on a competitive basis. Applications must be submitted through our online grant portal, Fluxx. You can check the status of a grant proposal from the applicant dashboard. Visit humanitiesny.fluxx.io to register and create an application.

Vision Grants: Seed Funding for Project Development

Accepted on a rolling basis until funds are depleted

Vision Grants ($500 to $1500, 1:1 match required) are planning grants. They support activities such as focus groups, new partnership meetings, collaborative research, scholar consultations, and professional development that assists organizations in developing public-facing humanities programs. Vision Grant awards may be applied toward expenses such as travel, consultant fees, and participant stipends. Typical grant products include exhibition plans; apps, tours, and brochures; public programming series; town halls; feasibility studies; and white papers.

Application Checklist

Use the checklist below to ensure that your application is complete and accurate.

Project Team

- ☐ Humanities Expert: Each project team must include at least one member with humanities expertise. This may be someone with an advanced degree in a humanities field, a local history expert, or a culture bearer. The application should demonstrate how their expertise will contribute to the project.
- ☐ Community Partnerships: HNY encourages organizations to develop and implement programming in partnership with other community groups. Please describe any institutional partners in your application.

Matching Funds

- ☐ All three grant opportunities require cost-sharing of at least 1:1. Put another way, HNY grants can fund no more than 50% of a project's expenses. The grant request may be matched by any combination of cash and in-kind contributions. Staff time, volunteer time, and donated venue space may count as sources of cost-share. Matching funds demonstrate commitment to a project and help HNY meet state and federal reporting requirements.

Budget

- ☐ Each application must include a project budget completed on the HNY budget template (link available in the application). The budget should demonstrate how the grant request will be allocated, as well as any cash or in-kind cost share.
- ☐ Eligible Expenses: Applicants may request support for any necessary costs for the proposed scope of work, including participant honoraria, staff time, consultants, travel, marketing, evaluation, and photography/videography. Costs of travel on non-U.S. (international) air carriers and costs of alcohol may not be included in the request.
- ☐ Finance Officer: If awarded, grantees must designate a Finance Officer who will manage the grant funds. This individual must be an employee or board member of the awarded organization and be familiar with accounting practices. The Finance Officer may not be the same person as the Project Director.

Additional Considerations

Applying Organizations

HNY accepts proposals from "pass-through" organizations, i.e., tax-exempt organizations based in New York State that apply on behalf of organizations who are working toward tax-exempt status but have not secured it at the time of a grant deadline. (This arrangement is sometimes referred to as a "fiscal sponsorship"). Like all tax-exempt organizations, pass-through organizations are eligible to receive one Vision Grant and one Action Grant OR one Vision Grant and one Quick Grant per calendar year.

The pass-through organization must serve as the applying organization for the grant request and should be registered in the HNY portal as "[X Organization] on behalf of [Y Organization]."

Multiple departments or centers from within a single college or university are eligible to apply for grants at the same time. Each department or center is eligible to apply for one Vision Grant and one Action Grant per calendar year, and must upload their university's 990 rather than their department or center budget.

For Action, Vision and Quick grants, HNY does not accept pass-through proposals from Fractured Atlas, New York Foundation for the Arts, or The Field. Each of these organizations can, however, serve as pass-throughs for PIHP grant proposals.

Programming Admission Fees

Admission fees for humanities programming are acceptable but keep in mind: the higher the fee, the less competitive the proposal will be in the eyes of reviewers. A useful rule of thumb is to maintain rough parity with the current price of a movie-theater ticket in your part of New York State.

Additional Considerations, ctd.

Review Process

The HNY Grants Department reviews submitted materials for eligibility and completeness before passing applications along to the Grant Review Committee. If an application is incomplete, applicants will be notified by email and may have the opportunity to resubmit.

The Grant Review Committee is composed of HNY Board members and outside evaluators. Projects are awarded on a competitive basis, balancing the merits of each proposal, applicants' track records, and HNY's funding priorities. All applicants will be notified by email as soon as possible after a decision meeting. You may also view the status of your application by logging into the grant portal.
